

Where can I go for help and advice?

Where to get help and advice

Seeking help is often the first step towards getting and staying well, but it can be hard to know how to start or where to turn to. It's common to feel unsure, and to wonder whether you should try to handle things on your own. But it's always ok to ask for help – even if you're not sure what the problem might be.

You might want to seek help if you're:

- worrying more than usual
- finding it hard to enjoy your life
- having thoughts and feelings that are difficult to cope with, which have an impact on your day-to-day life
- interested to find more support or treatment.

This booklet contains information and advice about where you can access help and advice.

Alternatives to self-harm

As self-harm is normally used to help deal with emotional stress there are a number of ways to help manage their feelings.

Alternatives that will give you a sensation (other than pain) without harming yourself

- Hold ice in your hands, against your arm, or in your mouth
- Run your hands under freezing cold water
- Snap a rubber band or hair band against your wrist
- Clap your hands until it stings
- Wax your legs
- Frink freezing cold water
- Splash your face with cold water
- Put PVA/ Elmer's glue on your hands and then peel it off
- Massage where you want to hurt yourself
- Take a hot shower/bath
- Jump up and down to get some sensation in your feet
- Write or paint on yourself
- Young people who self-harm also suggest the following alternative coping strategies for when they are feeling upset or distressed
- Scribble on photos of people in magazines
- Viciously stab an orange
- Throw an apple/pair of socks against the wall
- Have a pillow fight with the wall
- Scream really loudly
- Tear apart newspapers, photos, or magazines
- Go to the gym, dance, exercise
- Listen to music and sing loudly
- Draw a picture/ write down what is making you angry
- Beat up a stuffed bear
- Pop bubble wrap
- Pop balloons
- Splatter paint
- Scribble on a piece of paper until the whole page is black
- Filling a piece of paper with drawing cross hatches
- Throw darts at a dart board
- Go for a run
- Write your feelings on a piece of paper and then rip it up
- Use stress relievers
- Build a fort of pillows and then destroy it
- Throw ice cubes at the bathtub wall or a tree etc.
- Get out a fine tooth comb and vigorously brush the fur of a stuffed animal (but use gentle vigour)
- Flatten cans for recycling, seeing how fast you can go
- On a sketch or photo of yourself, mark in red ink what you want to do. Cut and tear the picture
- Break sticks
- Cut up fruits
- Make yourself as comfortable as possible
- Stamp around in heavy shoes
- Play tennis
- Yell at what you are breaking and tell it why you are angry, hurt, upset, etc.
- Buy a cheap plate and decorate it with markers, stickers, cut outs from magazines, words, images, whatever that expresses your pain and sadness and when you're done, smash it (be careful when doing this)
- The calm jar (fill a jar with coloured water and glitter. When feeling upset or angry you can shake it to disturb the glitter and focus on that until the glitter settles)
- Blow up a balloon and pop it.
